

OUR MISSION

A home for Black women to gather, belong, and support each other along the way.

01 The problem

One of the most digitally active groups online, with no single place to gather, belong, and be seen. Her world is scattered across platforms.

02 Why now

Communities are fragmenting into smaller, more intimate spaces. Black women lead new business creation and spend deeply, yet have no home of their own.

~$2.1T

annual Black buying power

$9.4B

annual Black spend on beauty

+86%

more likely to spend 5+ hrs a day on social

03 What we built

Where women build community around a passion and find real support along the way.

Journeys

The process behind a passion, shared over time.

Jars

Shoppable collections others can support.

Feed

A personalized feed centered on her community.

Daia

Her AI co-pilot for discovery and support.

04 Why we win

Built for her from day one, not retrofitted. That earns a trust no broad platform can match, and trust converts to commerce.

05 Traction

Live on iOS and Android across multiple countries. Early cohorts return week over week.

06 Team

Founder-led by a technical CEO, with operators from Harvard, Facebook, Georgia Tech, Citi, and NASA.

07 How we make money

We earn when she earns.

Affiliate

A cut of every product bought through a Jar.

LIVE

Direct sales

A take rate on what she sells directly.

NEXT

$1M

THE ASK

An 18-month runway: a creator program plus targeted distribution to prove activation and GMV per seller, and unlock the seed round.

